IMMEDIATE ACTION REQUIRED - COMPLIANCE TEST FAILURE

Contribution refunds to participants are required to correct compliance testing failures. Review the Excess Summary report provided in this package for details and return any required documents or contact your local regional office representative.

To help ensure returns are processed correctly, please also return Form W-4R documents for each affected participant.

IMMEDIATE ACTION REQUIRED - ACP TEST FAILURE

Contribution refunds to participants are required to correct ADP/ACP testing failures. Review the ADP/ACP Correction Method summary for details.

The distribution is subject to a 10% federal income tax, unless the participant completes a Form W-4R indicating he/she either does not want taxes withheld or wants an additional amount withheld.

If you need assistance or have questions, please contact your local regional office representative right away.

IMMEDIATE ACTION REQUIRED - ACP TEST FAILURE

Contribution refunds to participants are required to correct ADP/ACP testing failures unless QNEC contributions will be made. Review the ADP/ACP Correction Method summary provided in this package for details.

The distribution is subject to a 10% federal income tax, unless the participant completes a Form W-4R indicating he/she either does not want taxes withheld or wants an additional amount withheld.

If you need assistance or have questions, please contact your local regional office representative right away.

Review the Excess Summary. Return Form W-4P for each affected participant.

IMMEDIATE ACTION REQUIRED - CONTRIBUTIONS

A Contribution and/or adjustment is required. Please review the testing results, and contribution calculations to ensure they are based on accurate census data.

If you need assistance or have questions, please contact your local regional office representative.

IMMEDIATE ACTION REQUIRED - ACP PRIOR METHOD TEST FAILURE - AFTER 12-MONTHS

ADP/ACP corrections completed after the 12-month correction period need to be completed using the one-to-one correction method under the Internal Revenue Code EPCRS Procedure.

Contribution refunds are required to correct the ADP/ACP testing failures, and the employer is required to make a QNEC contribution equal to the total amount of the corrective distributions, which is allocated to the non-highly compensated employees (NHCEs).

Review the ADP/ACP Correction Method summary for details.

The distribution is subject to a 10% federal income tax, unless the participant completes a Form W-4R indicating he/she either does not want taxes withheld or wants an additional amount withheld.

If you need assistance or have questions, please contact your local regional office representative right away.

IMMEDIATE ACTION REQUIRED - ACP CURRENT METHOD TEST FAILURE - AFTER 12-MONTHS

ADP/ACP corrections completed after the 12-month correction period need to be completed under one of the Internal Revenue Code EPCRS approved self-correction methods. The employer needs to use one of the following correction methods:

1. QNEC Correction Method. This method allows the employer to contribute qualified nonelective contributions (QNECs) to the extent necessary to pass the applicable test. This amount can be found on the Correction Method page of the ADP/ACP Nondiscrimination Test reports.

2. One-to-One Correction Method. Under this method, contribution refunds are required to correct the ADP/ACP testing failures, and the employer is required to make a QNEC contribution equal to the total amount of the corrective distributions, which is allocated to the non-highly compensated employees (NHCEs).

Please review the ADP/ACP Correction Method summary and notify us of the correction method selected. Allocation breakdown based on selected correction option will be provided.

The distribution is subject to a 10% federal income tax, unless the participant completes a Form W-4R indicating he/she either does not want taxes withheld or wants an additional amount withheld.

If you have questions, please contact your local regional office representative right away.

ATTENTION REQUIRED - TOP HEAVY DETERMINATION

Review the Compliance Testing Summary of Results page to see the top heavy percentage that will determine if a contribution is required next year.

Please contact your local regional office representative for assistance in reviewing the implications of having a top heavy plan.

Plans with a top heavy percent of 60.01% or greater require a top heavy allocation. The allocation is determined as the lesser of the highest allocation rate for any of the key employees OR 3%. The allocation rate is applied to total compensation for all non-key employees to arrive at the top heavy allocation. The allocation rate for key employees includes all contributions and forfeitures allocated to the key employees. If all key employees elect not to defer or defer below 3%, the top heavy allocation required will be substantially reduced.

Plans using a Safe Harbor feature are normally exempt from the top heavy requirements. However, if the plan has different eligibility requirements between salary deferral contributions and the safe harbor contribution, or makes an allocation of any discretionary contribution in addition to the safe harbor contribution or forfeitures, the plan would lose its exemption from the top heavy requirements. Therefore, a minimum top heavy allocation to all non-key employees would be required. Should a plan eliminate the safe harbor feature, and remain top heavy, the minimum top heavy allocation requirement must be satisfied.

NO IMMEDIATE ACTION IS REQUIRED AT THIS TIME

Failed Compliance Testing - After 12-months

Excess Return Notice

Current method testing: The ADP/ACP test failure was not corrected within the applicable correction period and must be corrected under EPCRS procedures.

The Plan Sponsor may elect to correct the failure by making a Qualified Non Elective Contribution (QNEC) to Non Highly compensated Employees (NHCEs). The amount of the QNEC that is required to pass the ADP/ACP test is $X,XXX,XXX.XX. The ADP QNEC is $X,XXX,XXX.XX. The ACP QNEC is $X,XXX,XXX.XX. Please contact your local regional office representative if you elect this correction method. A Detailed Participant level allocation breakdown can be provided upon request.

Alternatively, the Plan Sponsor may elect the One-to-One Correction Method, under Excess Aggregated Deferral Contribution of $X,XXX,XXX.XX and Match contribution of $X,XXX,XXX.XX were returned to the applicable Highly compensated Employees and an equal amount is contributed as a QNEC to eligible NHCEs. Please contact your local regional office representative if you elect this correction method. A Detailed Participant level allocation breakdown can be provided upon request.

The corrective action necessary in the case of a failure of the ADP/ACP nondiscrimination test is to complete an approved EPCRS correction method. Additional employer contributions may require depending on the correction method selected. If you need assistance or have questions regarding the available correction methods, please contact your local regional office representative.

A 10% withholding tax will apply unless we receive a Form W-4R informing us that you either do not want any tax withheld or want an additional amount of tax withheld. You can obtain a copy of the W-4R at https://www.irs.gov/pub/irs-pdf/fw4r.pdf.

Failed Compliance Testing

Excess Return Notice

Current method testing: Instead of returning excess contribution an employer may make a Qualified Non-Elective Contribution (QNEC) to Non-Highly compensated employees (NHCE's). The amount of the QNEC that is required to pass the ACP test is $X,XXX,XXX.XX. The ADP QNEC is $X,XXX,XXX.XX. The ACP QNEC is $X,XXX,XXX.XX. Please contact your local regional office representative to let them know if you choose this option for a breakdown per participant.

The corrective action necessary in the case of a failure of the ADP/ACP nondiscrimination test is to return Excess Contributions (Salary Deferral/Roth) and/or Excess Aggregate Contributions (Employer Match) to the appropriate Highly Compensated Employees. The actual amounts refunded have been adjusted to include any positive or negative earnings that are attributable to this excess contribution.

A 10% withholding tax will apply unless we receive a Form W-4P informing us that you either do not want any tax withheld or want an additional amount of tax withheld. You can obtain a copy of the W-4R at https://www.irs.gov/pub/irs-pdf/fw4p.pdf.

Please note that the Employer is subject to a 10% excise tax on returns made after September 14, 2026. If your plan is an Eligible Automatic Contribution Arrangement (EACA), the 10% excise tax applies to returns made after December 30, 2026.

Annual Additions (IRC 415) Test Failure Information

January 1, 2025 - December 31, 2025

GRACE MEDICAL HOME, INC. 403(B) PLAN

555403

The Annual Additions (IRC 415) limit for the plan year ending 2026 is the lesser of $72,000 or 100% of a participant's compensation for the year.

Sources of money included within the Annual Additions (IRC 415) limit are:

· employer contributions

· employee deferral contributions (i.e. pre-tax employee deferral, Roth)

· employee post-tax contributions (i.e. voluntary after-tax)

· forfeitures allocated to the participant for the plan year (or applicable limitation year)

The procedures for correcting excess annual additions are governed by the IRS's Employer Compliance Resolution System (EPCRS). In addition to refunding the excess amount, the Self Correction Program (SCP) rules under EPCRS require an employer to have established practices and procedures in place to assure that this operational error does not occur in future years.

What does an Annual Additions (IRC 415) test failure mean to an affected participant and what should the employer communicate to the participant?

1. The excess annual addition and attributable match (if applicable) must be removed from the participant's account.
2. The excess amount refunded to the participant will be taxed in the year of distribution.
3. The distribution is subject to a 10% federal income tax, unless the participant completes a Form W-4R indicating he/she either does not want taxes withheld or wants an additional amount withheld.
4. The distribution is not subject to the following:
    a. 20% mandatory tax withholding; or
    b. Additional 10% tax if the participant is under age 59½.
5. The distribution is not eligible for rollover to another qualified plan or IRA.
6. The participant will receive a Form 1099-R for the calendar year in which the refund was made.

What does the Annual Additions (IRC 415) test failure mean to the employer?

1. The Compliance Test Excess Summary provides the amount of the excess annual addition and any applicable earnings that are required to be returned from the participant account.
2. The excess amount must be removed from the participant's account so we can complete year-end administration. Please keep in mind that if any of the information is modified as reported in the attached paperwork, the testing results will be affected.
3. The employer must establish practices and procedures to assure that this operational failure does not occur in future years.
4. The employer should keep a record of the excess/refund for auditing purposes.
5. The employer should communicate the excess/refund to the affected participants. For your convenience, we have attached a sample participant communication which may need to be modified to meet each individual's situation.

SAMPLE/DRAFT Communication to Participant

(To Be Placed On Company Letterhead)

Dear <Participant Name>

We are writing to let you know that <$0.00> will be withdrawn from your plan account due to the failure of the plan's Actual Deferral Percentage (ADP) and/or Actual Contribution Percentage (ACP) nondiscrimination testing for the 2026 plan year. This amount includes a refund of <$0.00> which is your own employee contributions and may also include employer contributions, plus earnings.

Sources of money included within the ADP/ACP test are:

- employee deferral contributions (i.e. pre-tax employee deferrals, Roth) - ADP
- employee post-tax contributions (i.e. voluntary after tax) - ACP
- employer matching contributions - ACP
- match forfeitures allocated for the plan year - ACP

What does failing the ADP/ACP nondiscrimination testing mean to you as a participant?

1. The excess contributions must be removed from your account.
2. If applicable, attributable match must be forfeited and removed from your account.
3. The excess amount refunded to you will be taxed to you in the year of distribution.
4. The distribution is subject to a 10% federal income tax, unless waived by completing a Form W-4R indicating you do not want taxes withheld or you want a different amount withheld.
5. The distribution is not subject to the following:
    a. 20% mandatory tax withholding; or
    b. the additional 10% tax if you are under age 59½.
6. The distribution is not eligible for rollover to another qualified plan or IRA.
7. You will receive a Form 1099-R for the calendar year in which the refund was made.

If you have any questions, please contact me.

SAMPLE/DRAFT Communication to Participant

(To Be Placed on Company Letterhead)

Dear <Participant Name>

We are writing to let you know that <$0.00> will be withdrawn from your plan account as the 402(g) Deferral Limit has been exceeded for the 2025 calendar year. This amount includes a refund of <$0.00> which is your own employee contributions, plus earnings.

Sources of money included in the 402(g) Deferral limit are:

· employee deferral contributions (i.e. pre-tax and Roth employee deferrals)

What does failing the 402(g) Deferral limit mean to you as a participant?

1. The excess deferrals must be removed from your account prior to 4/15 of the following calendar year in which the excess occurs.
2. If applicable, the attributable match must be forfeited and removed from your account.
3. The excess amount refunded to you will be taxed as follows:
    a. if excess is returned prior to end of calendar year in which excess occurred, it is taxed in the year of distribution.
    b. if excess is returned after calendar year in which excess occurred, but prior to 4/15, contributions are taxable for the calendar year excess made and earnings in year of distribution.
    c. if excess is returned after 4/15 (calendar year following excess occurred), the excess contributions are taxable for the calendar year the excess contribution was made and the earnings are taxed in the year of distribution. When a distributable event occurs, the excess will be taxed again. No distribution from your account will occur at this time.
4. Federal tax withholding will not be withheld from this distribution unless Form W-4R is returned indicating the amount of taxes to be withheld.
5. The distribution is not subject to the following:
    a. 20% mandatory tax withholding; or
    b. the additional 10% tax if you are under age 59½.
6. The distribution is not eligible for rollover to another qualified plan or IRA.
7. You will receive a Form 1099-R for the calendar year in which the refund was made.

If you have any questions, please contact me.

SAMPLE/DRAFT Communication to Participant

(To Be Placed on Company Letterhead)

Dear <Participant Name>

We are writing to let you know that <$0.00> will be withdrawn from your plan account as the Annual Additions (IRC 415) limit has been exceeded for the plan year ending 2026. This amount includes a refund of <$0.00> which is your own employee contributions, plus any positive applicable earnings, negative earnings are not included. In addition, if there are any employer contributions, plus applicable earnings, they will be forfeited as required by IRS regulations.

The Annual Additions (IRC 415) limit for the plan year ending 2026 is the lesser of $72,000 or 100% of a participant's compensation for the year.

Sources of money included within the 415 (Annual Additions) limit are:

- employer contributions
- employee deferral contributions (i.e. pre-tax employee deferrals, Roth)
- employee post-tax contributions (i.e. voluntary after tax)
- forfeitures allocated to the participant for the plan year (or applicable limitation year)

What does exceeding the Annual Additions (IRC 415) limit mean to you as a participant?

1. The excess annual addition and attributable match (if applicable) must be removed from your account.
2. The excess amount refunded to you will be taxed to you in the year of distribution.
3. The distribution is subject to a 10% federal income tax, unless waived by completing a Form W-4R indicating you do not want taxes withheld or you want a different amount withheld.
4. The distribution is not subject to the following:
    a. 20% mandatory tax withholding; or
    b. the additional 10% tax if you are under age 59½.
5. The distribution is not eligible for rollover to another qualified plan or IRA.
6. You will receive a Form 1099-R for the calendar year in which the refund was made.

If you have any questions, please contact me.

YEAR END RECAP

January 1, 2025 - December 31, 2025

GRACE MEDICAL HOME, INC. 403(B) PLAN

555403

Important Information

- Your plan is not subject to ADP/ACP Nondiscrimination Testing as the plan did not have any Highly Compensated Employees for the plan year ending June 30, 2026. For the plan year beginning July 1, 2026 no employee will be considered highly compensated.
- Based on the definition of Highly Compensated Employee (HCE), the employee(s) listed on the Future HCE Determination Report are considered highly compensated for the Plan Year beginning in 2026. The maximum average deferral rate for the Highly Compensated Employee(s) for the 2026 plan year is % based on the average deferral rate for your Nonhighly Compensated Employees (NHCE) for 2025 of %. This rate is determined using the "prior year data" method. Please communicate the maximum deferral percentage to affected employees. Note: the actual amount an employee can defer in 2026 is the lesser of the average deferral rate listed, $24,500 or the annual addition limit (adjusted for "catch-up" contributions, if applicable).
- Based on the definition of Highly Compensated Employee (HCE), the employee(s) listed on the Future HCE Determination Report are considered highly compensated for the Plan Year beginning in 2026. The maximum average deferral rate for the Highly Compensated Employee(s) for the 2026 plan year is based on the average deferral rate for your Nonhighly Compensated Employees for 2026. Note: In addition, the actual amount the employee can defer in 2026 cannot exceed $24,500 or the annual addition limit (adjusted for "catch-up" contributions, if applicable).
- Based on the definition of Highly Compensated Employee (HCE), the employee(s) listed on the Future HCE Determination Report are considered highly compensated for the Plan Year beginning in 2026. The maximum average deferral rate for the Highly Compensated Employee(s) for the 2026 plan year is not limited as long as the plan follows the rules and regulations of the Safe Harbor Plan. Note: The actual amount an employee can defer in 2026 is the lesser of $24,500 or the annual addition limit (adjusted for "catch-up" contributions, if applicable).
- Based on the definition of Highly Compensated Employee (HCE), the plan had Highly Compensated Employees for the plan year ending June 30, 2026, however, no employee will be considered highly compensated for the plan year beginning July 1, 2026. Please communicate to affected employees.
- Your plan is designed to allow participants who were age 50 or older to make "catch-up" contributions. The 2025 limit was an amount up to $7,500. Please see the appropriate compliance test for any participants who took advantage of this provision during the plan year. For 2026, the "catch-up" contribution is an amount up to $8,000 for any participant who is or will be 50 or older at any time during the plan year. A plan may allow for higher catch-up contributions for participants age 60-63. For 2026, the catch-up limit for these participants is $11,250.
- Based on the top heavy testing results for the 2026 plan year, your plan will be considered top heavy for the 2027 plan year. Plans that are top heavy may require additional contributions to non-key employees if key employees make elective deferrals or receive allocations of employer contributions. The minimum allocation amount is determined as the lesser of the highest allocation rate for any of the key employees OR 3%. If the key employees receive a contribution (deferral, match or Employer) of less than 3%, your top-heavy allocation requirement will be substantially reduced. A plan using a safe harbor contribution feature is exempt from the top heavy requirements. If the plan's eligibility requirements differ between salary deferral contributions and the safe harbor contribution, a minimum top-heavy allocation to all non-key employees will be required for the plan year. In addition, an additional allocation of any discretionary contribution on top of the safe harbor contribution or allocation of forfeitures would cause the plan to lose its exemption from the top heavy requirements. For a complete explanation of the top heavy rules please contact your local regional office representative.
- If you sponsor a qualified retirement plan not administered by Mutual of America, please provide your service provider with a copy of this Valuation Report to complete the combined plan testing. Upon request, we can perform the combined plan testing. Please contact your local regional office representative to discuss.
- The plan's employer match contribution is calculated on a participant's compensation earned for each payroll period. We recommend reviewing your payroll records to determine if the plan's match formula was applied correctly to each payroll period. We also recommend reviewing your match contributions to ensure that employees did not receive a match contribution in excess of the contribution limit based on the annual compensation limit. Work with your local regional office representative if adjustments to the employer match contribution are required.
- A 403(b) plan may allow a special catch-up for an employee with fifteen or more years of service.
